

OVERNIGHT TRIPS

Sending a loved one to an overnight camp for the first time can be stressful, especially when your loved one has special needs. At Caglewood, we do our best to help relieve those concerns. Caglewood staff members can meet with caregivers in person and/or talk with them on the phone, along with putting caregivers in contact with current camper parents. Caglewood offers these contacts to ensure a maximum comfort level for the caregivers of campers. Caglewood can also provide detailed schedules for weekend trips so that caregivers feel at ease knowing what their campers will be doing at all times. In addition, families whose campers have special dietary requirements can always be assured that those needs are being met by Caglewood staff. Caglewood maintains a focus on the safety, security, and comfort of our campers and camper families.
